THE DAILY AVALANCHE

The tournament at Gallatin was to come off on Saturday last.

The elections come off in Ohio and Pennsylvania on next Tuesday, the 8th instant.

The private banking house of H. S. Julian & Co., Louisville, suspended payment on Tuesday.

The Democrats of Baltimore have nominated Robert T. Banks, Esq., as their candidate for Mayor.

The President has refused General Sickles' request for a court of inquiry.

Shaw, Radical, has a majority of one hundred for Congress in Colorado.

The first frost of the season made its advent in the neighborhood of Louisville on Monday night, the 30th ultimo.

The National Bank at Whitestown, Oneida county, New York, has failed for $120,000—another case of waste and fast living.

Thirty thousand cattle, from Texas and New Mexico, are now collected at Lincoln, on the Union Pacific railroad, awaiting purchasers.

The receipts from internal revenue sources, Tuesday, were $797,000. The aggregate receipts for September were $15,000,000.

The bank defalcation in Connecticut is in the Litchfield County Bank, New Milford. The cashier's name is Conklin, and the funds are lost in stock speculations.

Ex-Senator James Chesnut, ex-Congressman Wm. Porcher Miles, and Colonel Shackelford, all of South Carolina, contemplate locating in the famed Valley of Virginia.

James M. Murphy (colored), from Nashville, was on Monday appointed by the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate a member of the Capitol police at Washington.

Senator Sumner has twenty-nine engagements to lecture in the West, at two hundred dollars each. He will fill them before the meeting of Congress, in November.

In Philadelphia, on Monday, at a meeting of cotton factors, a committee was appointed to prepare a petition to Congress, asking a deduction of the tax upon the raw material.

James Gordon Bennett, Sr., and Max Maretzek have kissed and become friends again. It is also reported that the opera libel suit against the Sunday Mercury is about to be settled.

Troops have been called for by the Freedmen's Bureau to aid in the preservation of the peace in Barbour county, West Virginia, and a company was dispatched thither Tuesday night.

Hon. W. Porcher Miles, of South Carolina, has purchased the magnificent estate of Judge Alexander Rives, called Oak Ridge, on the Orange and Alexandria railroad, in Nelson county, Virginia, for the sum of $40,000.

The Messrs. Peyton, proprietors of the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, are said to have made $20,000 this season. The Sweet, the Healing, the Hot and the Rockbridge Alum "done very well" also, says the Baltimore Sun.

Mrs. Mumford, the widow of the gentleman who was hung by Beast Butler, in New Orleans, is now living in Abingdon, Virginia, in great destitution. The Virginian calls for aid for her and three fatherless children.

The death of Mr. Violins, the chief of wine merchants of England, is announced. He was a sportsman; never had but one sort of wine in his cellar; never kept a clerk; never sent in a bill; never was in London, and never rode on a railroad.

A London letter says: "There is a rumor that Mr. L. P. Barrett, an American actor, is to share the perils of management at the St. James' Theater, with Miss Herbert, and that they will soon open with the 'Romance of a Poor Young Man.'"

Mrs. Mary Arnod, probably the oldest woman in the United States, died at her residence in Douglas street, Brooklyn, the 25th ultimo, at the advanced age of 110 years. Mrs. Arnod was born in Charleston, South Carolina.

The expansion of the iron rails on a road, say 500 miles in length, in a good hot summer's day, will amount to nearly a quarter of a mile beyond the extent to which the same rails will contract on a snapping cold day in winter.

Two of seven valuable English thoroughbreds, en route to the stables of Jerome and Cameron, at New York, lately died on the steamer Arago. One of them was the famous racer Lochnivar, valued at $10,000.

Judge Holt decides that United States officers need only make return to the writs of habeas corpus issuing from United States Courts. Attorney General Stanberry will probably reiterate this opinion in the Philadelphia cases.

The failure of the Croton Bank, on the corner of Nashua and Cedar streets, New York city, was announced Tuesday morning. It was wound up by the Government, after examination, and its condition is said to be very bad. The liabilities are reported at $200,000.

The political complexion of the Montana Legislature stands as follows: The Council, which consists of seven members, is unanimously Democratic. The House, which consists of fifteen members, will stand fourteen Democrats and one Republican.

Mr. Joseph M. Dawson, the noted comedian, died in Louisville on Monday. He was a great favorite in Memphis, and nowhere will the death of this gifted, clever and high toned gentleman be more feelingly lamented than here by the many who knew him and knew him to admire him.

Throughout South Missouri the people are greatly elated over the prospects of the early completion of the Iron Mountain and Belmont railroad. Several hundred laborers have been distributed along the route, and the call has gone out for two thousand more.

The New York Evening Post speaks of a piece of property of four hundred acres, in Jersey City, bought sixty years ago for $20,000. Twenty years ago this property was offered for $600,000, without buyers. A part was subsequently sold for $3,000,000, and the remainder was estimated three years ago to be worth nearly $3,000,000. It would now readily bring $8,000,000.

General Charles P. Clever, the Delegate elect to Congress from New Mexico, is described as a Prussian by birth, a lawyer by profession, a General by reason of having held the office of Adjutant General of the Territory; in politics a bitter Conservative Copperhead, and in religion a cross between a Jew and a Catholic. He beats J. Francisco Chavez, the late Delegate, by 400 or 500 votes.

General Charles P. Stone, who was arbitrarily imprisoned by Stanton during the war, publishes a letter in the Boston Post of Saturday, in which he charges that while he was in command of the right flank division of the Potomac army, in 1861, covering the approaches to Washington, Senator Sumner was continually writing letters to his officers, urging them to disobey his (Stones') orders, and otherwise exciting insubordination among them. General Stone addressed Sumner a note on the subject at the time, in which he informed him that he regarded the vituperation of "such a well known coward at a safe place in the rear, as the best evidence that a soldier could have that he was performing his duty."

HOLLY SPRINGS CORRESPONDENCE.

HOLLY SPRINGS, MISSISSIPPI, October 2, 1867.

Holly Springs is the largest and most important town in North Mississippi. Its business capital, perhaps, exceeds the capital employed in nearly all other towns in the northern section of the State. The business houses are generally large brick buildings, from one hundred to one hundred and fifty feet in depth. In fact nearly all the stores here bear a strong resemblance to the best we have in Memphis. There is a busy air, too, of business energy pervading the place that somewhat reminds us of what Front row and Main street present in the busy season. Although the farmers in the country are generally despondent, yet the town people are determined not to succomb without a desperate struggle. I think their advice and example will have a salutary effect in turning back the tide of hopelessness that now seems to menace and threaten the very foundation of prosperity in the country.

For the information of those wishing to visit Holly Springs, temporarily, I would add that ample hotel accommodations can be obtained. Mr. Bracken, of the Bracken House, can furnish all with suitable entertainment. His table abounds with the best, and we know of none that ever went away dissatisfied. We commend the Bracken House to travelers. Mr. Bracken is well known as a Union Democrat of North Mississippi, having been postmaster of Holly Springs for a series of years under successive Democratic administrations. He is now disfranchised, and sits as quietly and peacefully as Babylon in ruins. D. Carotte runs the sailing house at the depot, and sets, perhaps, the best table on the road between New Orleans and Grand Junction. At least such is the universal expression of passengers over the Central road. A first class dinner, breakfast or supper can, therefore, be surely counted on at Holly Springs by passengers going to or returning from the South. None have yet ever complained that gave Carotte a trial.

General Ord has abandoned Vicksburg as his base of military operations, and will, after next Thursday, take up his headquarters here. Although he is acknowledged to be the best of the five military satraps now ruling the Territories, possessing far nobler and more generous qualities than any of them, the citizens generally have so far expressed no great amount of joy at his determined change of residence. The benefits of his immediate presence are to be left to future discovery, as none here are sufficiently sagacious to see them just now.

A few days since the simon pure Radicals, under the leadership of what Secretary Fleicher of your State denominates "Yankee bummers," held a grand Convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for the ensuing Convention. Gill, the despised and spurned of all honest men, was, of course, the principal fugleman of the concern. He claims his paternity somewhere near the Plymouth Rock, but come to Holly Springs on the heels of the invading army as Bureau agent. Since the war he and his wife have been teaching a colored school, his wife doing most of the labor in the schoolroom, while his valuable time has been devoted to the formation of "Loyal Leagues" amongst the colored enfranchised citizens. Of course his success has been considerable, and to an extent sufficient to induce him to aspire to official position, not heretofore being able to hold any of a moral or social character. His intellectual capacities are not of the Websterian kind, being barely sufficient to enable him to read the "Reconstruction Bill" intelligibly. To understand the provisions of said Bill is far more than he even has the impudence to aspire to. He, nevertheless, wishes office, and office he will have if the numerical strength of the negro vote can secure it to him. This is somewhat doubtful, as there are but eighty negro majority at present registered in the county, and as a supplimental registration is ordered, the prospects are that the white vote will outnumber the black vote at least two or three hundred. So you see Gill's chances are not so good as he may desire.

A Radical convention was held, however, a few days since, which resulted in putting three candidates in the field, far convention, viz.: Gill, Jim Williams, and a negro by the name of Richards. The only respectable man on the ticket is the negro, as he, at least, has the advantage of heretofore having respectable associations, having been the former slave of one of the best citizens of this county. I do not think he much likes the present, company he is in, but I think he will "grin" and bear it for liberty's sake.

Jim Williams is not unknown to fame. His former reputation consists in being considered the biggest fool Holly Springs ever produced, and in justice to him, it must be said he still holds his own with remarkable consistency. He is a man, however, of regular habits. He visits his law office every day, as he has for the last sixteen years, without yet ever having a case or brief. It is rumored that he did, on one occasion, volunteer his services to defend a negro from the charge of chicken stealing, but was rejected by the negro on the grounds that the emergencies of the case demanded abler counsel. This negro, however, now says he will vote for Williams to assist in "makin' de law," as he knows any law he could make would not be hard to break. At least he is willing to take his chances under such legislative enactments.

The Conservative ticket now likely to take the field against the three above mentioned scalawags will be composed of the best and ablest men of the county. It is probable that Major W. H. Compton will be one, while the others, though not now positively determined on, will be of equal merit. Of the Conservative candidates I will speak more hereafter.

GRAND JUNCTION.

Passing up from Holly Springs, we next stop at Grand Junction, Tennessee, noticeable only on account of its position and splendid hotel accommodations. The Stonewall House, kept by the gentlemanly and urbane Mr. Miller, is perhaps the best organized and thoroughly kept establishment of the kind in the south. The building itself, the result of the architectural skill and genius of its founder, Mr. Pledger, is a most beautiful and commodious structure. It consists of over fifty rooms, and a three stories high, being the largest railroad hotel this side of Mason and Dixon's line. Everything needful by the transient traveler is to be obtained in this establishment, from the warm and savory dishes served as directed by the polite and accommodating steward, Mr. P. Lowry, to the exhilirating beverages of the genial Estep, whose smiling countenance is a sure passport for the smiling passengers that invariably give him a call as they pass by, and go on their way rejoicing.

Close connections are made at this point by all the roads, the Charleston especially coming to time, so none need fear delay by passing this way.

I will inform you further concerning matters of any interest to your readers. TRAVELER.

THE WAR BETWEEN FLETCHER AND BROWNLOW.

The Governor in the Field.

A Card.

From the Nashville Press and Times.]

MR. MERCER: I find a remarkable speech reported in your paper, said to have been delivered in front of the Capitol, by the Secretary of State. I have perused it twice, and I have come to the conclusion that many of my most considerate friends have—that is to say, the object of the speech was an attack upon me—I propose briefly to notice two or three points in this unkind and ungenerous attack.

Speaking of the appointment of Northern men to office, Mr. Fletcher says:

"We have in the Cabinet, on the bench and made them Attorney Generals. Some of them are very shrewd in the pursuit of office. One of them, some time since, from about Columbia, obtained a commission of Chancellor before there was any vacancy, long before he was eligible, and a lifetime before he had any fitness for the office."

The individual alluded to is J. J. Noah, of Columbia. To the best of my recollection and belief, Mr. Fletcher is the only man who ever did, in person, urge upon me the favorable consideration of Mr. Noah. On two different occasions, in my room, in the presence of Hon. D. W. C. Senter, Mr. Fletcher spoke to me of the superior talents of Mr. Noah, and especially of his familiarity with the law books. In a word, he placed a higher estimate upon Mr. Noah's abilities than I did. The two had not then fallen out. After speaking of my staff, Mr. Fletcher adds:

"Yes, the person who occupies the Governor's chair in his absence, and presides over the Executive Department, is not a citizen of the State, and does not expect to become a citizen of the State."

H. H. Thomas did not force himself upon the State Government, but came from Washington at my special invitation, and I invited him because I had confidence in his talents, integrity and loyalty, and for the same reason I retain him on my staff. As a Federal soldier under General Burnside, he fought his way into Tennessee, achieving by arms the right to live here and hold office, if conferred upon him. I am not a party to the personal quarrel between him and Mr. Fletcher, and will not be made a party.

In concluding his speech, Mr. Fletcher says:

"I have been repeatedly asked to-day, if Governor Brownlow had espoused the cause of a particular candidate for mayor, and I am told the aforesaid Chief of Staff so declares. I know nothing on the subject."

If Mr. Fletcher knew nothing on the subject, he should not have said anything, or at least he should not have made the impression that I had pitched into a local contest between two Union friends. General Thomas, Colonel Innis, General Cooper, Dr. Sparling, Senator Fowler, Major Brown, and other citizens of Nashville, can inform him that I told them, in person, that under no circumstances could I be induced to take any other part in that contest than to enforce the franchise law of the State.

Finally, the flings at me in this speech, and worse, were made during the late canvass by rebel and conservative enemies, and the loyal people of the State spoke out in my defense through the ballot box. To the same people I hand over these attacks from an unexpected quarter, and I am willing to abide their verdict.

W. G. BROWNLOW.

September 28, 1867.

An anecdote is told of Velpau, the eminent French surgeon, who died a few years ago. He had successfully performed, on a little child five years old, a most perilous operation. The mother came to him and said: "Monsieur, my son is saved, and I really know not how to express my gratitude; allow me, however, to present you with this pocketbook, embroidered by my own hands." "Oh! madam," replied Velpau, sharply, "My art is not merely a question of feeling. My life has its requirements, like yours. Dress even, which is a luxury for you, is necessary for me. Allow me, therefore, to refuse your charming little present, in exchange for a more substantial remuneration." "But, Monsieur, what remuneration do you desire? Fix the fee yourself." "Five thousand francs, madam." The lady very quietly opened the pocketbook, which contained ten thousand franc notes, counted out five, and, after politely handing them over to Velpau, retired.

FRIDAY, : : : : : : : : OCTOBER 4, 1867

A GREAT deal of discussion pro and con on the subject of the lease of the Memphis and Ohio railroad to the Louisville and Nashville railroad for a term of ten years has lately been indulged in, and much lobbying performed by persons intersted in its transfer to the State so that they might have created for themselves an additional number of fat offices, and further enhance their already overgrown political power. We have, to a great degree, abstained from any discussion of the subject, but we this morning propose to lay before our readers a resume of all the facts. First of all we must bring to mind the condition in which, at the close of the war, the Memphis and Ohio railroad came into the hands of the present management. The road was torn to pieces, from one end to the other. The crossties and bridges rotten; no rolling stock of any kind to operate the road with, and not a dollar in the treasury. The money realized from the State loan, and furnished by some of the friends of the road, was not sufficient to rebuild the road and purchase rolling stock, and the business of the road during the last year of depression has not been sufficient to pay the operating expenses, the cost of new work and new rolling stock absolutely necessary to an efficient operation of the road. The State interest had been met on the 1st of January last, but could not be paid on the 1st of July. The company were largely in arrears to their employes, and to the parties from whom they had purchased supplies, and it became evident that if the State authorities could not be induced to extend the time for paying the interest the road must hereafter be managed by the State. Did the stockholders want this? If they did we are much mistaken. The State had no means to pay the debt created by the Memphis and Ohio railroad. The managers of the road were pledged to the parties from whom they borrowed money and to the employes of the road, who have worked faithfully for the interest of the company without having received their full pay for several months. The managers of the road had to look to some arrangement by which they could meet these debts, rather than to one by which they never could be paid. Are the directors to be blamed for this? Moreover, we know that the Memphis and Ohio railroad can not be efficiently managed without expending on it a large amount of money. In no undertaking does it pay better to start with sufficient capital, and do things as they ought to be done, than in railroad operations. The result of trying to operate roads without sufficient means is to run them in debt deeper and deeper, from day to day. All the troubles on the Memphis and Ohio railroad have arisen from this cause. Now, how can it be supposed that under the management of the State, having not a dollar to invest, this road could be kept in operation for any length of time. Under the most favorable circumstances a debt would be saddled upon the road, which would ruin it forever, and sink every dollar of stock. Did the stockholders want this? The managers thought not, and hence they took steps by which they have not only secured the payment of these debts, but have put the affairs of the road in a condition which promises its permanent success. We have reference to a consolidated line between Louisville and Memphis. But it is asserted by those who oppose consolidation that in a consolidated line the Louisville interest would preponderate, and would discriminate in the tariff of the road against Memphis interests. Such assertions merely show that those who make them are entirely ignorant, (supposing they are honest), of the facts which govern the tariff on the Memphis and Louisville road. As long as the Ohio river flows into the Mississippi, and Louisville stands on the banks of the former, and Memphis on the banks of the latter river, the managers of the Memphis and Louisville road, be they citizens of Memphis or Louisville, will never be called upon to make a tariff on through freight. This prerogative will always be enjoyed by the steamboat interest, and the only alternative presenting itself to the managers of the railroad is this: Will you adopt the river tariff, or will you do no freight business at all? Now, as regards the local tariff, it is maintained by the opponents of consolidation that the tariff on the Memphis and Ohio railroad could be made so as to take business that properly belongs to Memphis to Louisville. Let us look into this little closer and it will appear that whatever influence of that kind can possibly be exerted, can be exerted without consolidation in a greater degree than with consolidation; for the simple reason that the Louisville and Nashville railroad does not only control one hundred and sixty-four miles of the Memphis and Louisville road, having the longest link in the line, but as far as drawing business from the Memphis and Ohio railroad to Louisville is concerned, have the eighty-two miles of the Memphis, Clarksville and Louisville railroad in interest with them. Paris, the great distributing point of Henry county, is on the Memphis, Clarksville and Louisville railroad as well as on the Memphis and Ohio railroad, and is entirely independent of the latter road, as far as their Louisville business is concerned. All that the Memphis and Ohio railroad managers can do is to establish the tariff of their road in accordance with the laws of the State, which not only limit the rates on freight within certain bounds, but also provide that freight must be carried at the same rate in one direction as in the other. The tariff on the Memphis and Ohio railroad once established the combined roads, from Paris to Louisville (240 miles long against 130 of the Memphis and Ohio railroad), can regulate the balance of the tariff so as to suit their own views. This would not be the case were the roads consolidated. Then the laws of the State would apply to the whole road, and no discrimination would be possible; while now it is out of the control of the Memphis and Ohio railroad to prevent it. The impression is sought to be made on the people of Memphis that the Louisville and Nashville railroad company was a corporation entirely foreign and opposed to the Memphis and Ohio railroad; while the fact is that the Louisville and Nashville railroad forms a part, and the greatest part, of the Memphis and Louisville road, and that the interests of both are identical. What will benefit one will benefit the other; what will injure one will injure the other. There is only this difference, that the Louisville and Nashville railroad can do very well without the Memphis and Ohio railroad, while the Memphis and Ohio railroad cannot do without the Louisville and Nashville railroad. The local business of the Louisville and Nashville railroad is sufficient to pay a handsome dividend on the stock of this road. The local business on the Memphis and Ohio railroad, if detached from the through lines, would not pay enough to keep the road in operation. The Louisville and Nashville railroad can direct their Memphis, New Orleans and Mobile travel by way of Nashville and Decatur, and derive from it the same profits, if any more, than by way of the Memphis and Ohio railroad; but the Memphis and Ohio railroad cannot send their business to Louisville (the bulk of the business they now do is via Louisville) by any other route, and have it pass over the whole length of their road. The Louisville and Nashville railroad, by building the contemplated road from Paris to Jackson, Tennessee, or uniting with the Nashville and Northwestern railroad, building the Huntingdon and Jackson road, can secure all the advantages of railroad connection with Mobile and New Orleans, and the intermediate country, entirely independent of the Mobile and Ohio railroad, and greatly to the injury of the Memphis and Ohio railroad, and to the city of Memphis. From a consideration of the facts above stated, it must be clear to every unbiased and sensible man, that a consolidation (identifying thereby the interest of both roads) can under any circumstances and at any time result only to the advantage of the Memphis and Ohio railroad and the city of Memphis; but under the peculiar circumstances under which we now find this road, it is the only means of saving the Memphis and Ohio railroad from utter ruin. It should not be forgotten that the builders of the Memphis and Ohio railroad have always looked forward to a consolidation with the Louisville road, and the charters of the three roads forming the line between Memphis and Louisville provide for this consolidation. To the directors is given the authority to effect the same any time they think proper to do so. In accordance with this original plan, the Memphis and Ohio railroad have proposed to the Louisville and Nashville railroad that this consolidation should now take place, and before the road would pass into the hands of the State. But as there were some parties in this city who wanted to be put in possession of the road as managers for the State, sufficient time could not be obtained to effect the consolidation, and the directors, in order to save the property to the stockholders, have leased the road to the Louisville and Nashville railroad for a period of ten years, with the understanding that the consolidation should be effected as soon as practicable, and with the express condition (to satisfy even those who labor under the impression that the city of Louisville could stop the future growth of Memphis)—that no discrimination must be made in the tariff to favor the Louisville interest in preference to the Memphis interest. This lease is a mere temporary measure. It ceases in case consolidation is accomplished, but should this not be the case, the road is to be returned to the stockholders in ten years, during which time it is confidently expected its condition in every respect will be greatly improved. The Louisville and Nashville railroad guarantees to pay the State interest, to put the road in first class order, and as soon as any net profits are derived from the operation of the road, to pay them over to the stockholders. In making this lease the Louisville and Nashville railroad is actuated by a commendable spirit of liberality and public enterprise. The obligations they have assumed are heavy. They derive no other profits from their lease, but what an efficient management of the Memphis and Ohio railroad secures. This cannot be secured without a large outlay of money, in finishing the road and purchasing rolling stock and paying the State interest before the road can pay any money out of its earnings. They look on the Memphis and Louisville line as a great railroad route that must be of immense benefit to the cities of Memphis and Louisville and the country through which it passes. They are willing to make sacrifices to prevent this line going to waste, which it necessarily must if managed by the State, without the necessary means, and if managed by three independent administrations, which cannot manage a through line of road so as to give satisfaction to the public. But the Louisville and Nashville railroad company is not at all anxious to make these sacrifices, if somebody else will come forward. If the citizens of Memphis will come forward, pay the debts past due, assume the payment of the State interest for all future time, and advance sufficient money to put the road in first class order, and see that it is managed as a first class road, the Louisville and Nashville railroad company would be rejoiced at such action on the part of the city of Memphis.

We have thus given our readers the facts of the case, and we, having the interests of Memphis at heart, can not but indorse in full the action of Mr. WOODRUFF and his Board of Directors. It is much better for live railroad men to manage the destinies of a road than corrupt political janizaries, who only care for the interests of our city and State so far as it increases the plethora of their pockets. We would sooner trust the men who have proved themselves the honest friends of Memphis by their deeds, than the vaunting promises of untried and, perhaps, corrupt politicians, particularly when they are the henchmen of BROWNLOW.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

FROM EUROPE.

LONDON, October 3—Midnight.

Reports from Italy are startling. A dispatch from Florence, late this evening, says that the outbreak at Viterbo has not been quelled. The town of Aqua per Dentl has been captured by insurgents, who have full possession of all the roads leading to it. The commander of the Papal forces has asked the Italian government for instant assistance. Italy refuses, and there is no longer room to doubt that the revolt is serious.

There are alarming fears of an interruption of friendly relations between Italy and France.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, October 3.

The Statistical Bureau estimates the cotton crop of Alabama, Mississippi and Florida at 927,853 bales.

Bonds and liens for lands have been issued to the Union Pacific railroad on the thirteenth section of thirty-five miles, which completes the road 455 miles from Omaha.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, October 3.

Interments from the fever for the twenty-four hours ending at six o'clock this morning, fifty-six. The Howard Association is now rendering assistance to 800 families, averaging three cases of fever to each.

FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, October 3.

Special dispatches to the Herald say that a report is current in Washington that a conspiracy has been discovered in the Cabinet to drive the President, and go in for Chase as candidate for the presidency.

Commissioner Rollins has written to a gentleman in this city stating that by law of Congress all affidavits are relieved from stamp duty.

The Times' special says the President's position on reconstruction is plainly stated in the advice he gives to Southerners pardoned under the recent amnesty proclamation. He tells them that he cannot reopen registration without running risk of impeachment. It also states that the promulgation of the amnesty proclamation, if properly managed, would result in the disruption of the Republican party.

If the courts decide as he thinks, they should decide the those pardoned are restored to full citizenship, and if leaders of that party insist upon refusal to register them, the people will flock to the support of the Judiciary. He advises all agrieved to appeal to the courts for examination.

The Bank Examiner reports a declination of the cashier of the First National Bank of New Milford, Connecticut, amounting to $47,000.

Private dispatches from Charleston state that United States Marshal Goodloe will soon re-ume the execution of the United States process-s-d by Sickles' order. No. 10, and General Canby had instructed post commandants not to interfere with the attempt.

Rumors of changes in the War Office are again in circulation. It is stated that Sheridan will decline the position, and that General F. P. Blair, Jr., or Tom Ewing, Jr., will be appointed.

A Herald special says two prominent politicians, one from Virginia and the other from Georgia, in an interview with the President, suggested means for speedy restoration. It was for the Republicans to recognize the right of each State to decid for itself the question of suffrage; in which case the South would admit the colored population as voters as they became qualified by intelligence, and would inaugurate a vigorous policy for the education of that class.

President Davis' case has not been considered in the Cabinet, and it is stated to be entirely in the hands of the United States Circuit Court of Virginia and the District Attorney.

One hundred thousand dollars more has been paid on Missouri war claims. This makes $6,200,000.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

To the Cotton Brokers of Memphis.

GENTLEMEN—In furtherance of our wishes to lessen the labor and labor charges on cotton from planter to buyer here, we have the satisfaction to say to you that we have not signed with Mr. PERRIN, Superintendent of the Memphis and Ohio railroad, to place all cotton intended for us in separate cars, and to run the same to our Warehouses, thus saving a drayage to the enhanced producer and avoiding the vexatious delay in the delivery of cotton at the Main street depot consequent upon the (as we believe) unnecessary separate loads.

An examination of our Warehouses is particularly requested, and parties will be satisfied with it, and with the arrangement we have made with the railroad, can leave us their cotton to be forwarded by Mr. PERRIN to his agent along the line of the road.

Respectfully,

Public Sale
OF
300 ACRES SUBURBAN LAND
ON TEN YEARS' CREDIT.

I PROPOSE to sell at public sale, to the highest bidder on THURSDAY, the 14th of November, 1867, about three hundred acres Field and Forest Land, on my Homestead Tract, situated three miles east of Memphis, at the head of Union avenue, and lying between Central avenue and the Old State Line road. The most popular street pavements being now in process of construction in Memphis, good turnpikes or street railways on the roads leading from the city directly through this property, must soon follow, thereby affording the most reasonable probability of its great and rapid enhancement of value.

In stating the advantages of this property, I would specially refer to the HEALTH of the locality as having been always considered equal if not superior to that of any portion of the city environs; while the high character of the neighborhood, and the provision made for CHURCH AND SCHOOL PRIVILEGES, combine to render it one of the most desirable points for a suburban residence which the vicinity of Memphis affords.

The TITLE to this property has been vested in my father and myself for thirty years without interruption, and is free from any incumbrance.

THE SUBDIVISION OF THE GROUNDS will be in lots of about Five Acres, according to plans to be seen at the office of the Auctioneers. The avenues will be opened and the lots numbered so as to be readily examined before the day of sale.

BEING DETERMINED TO SELL, I shall offer the following liberal

TERMS:

One-tenth Cash; the balance in TEN ANNUAL INSTALMENTS, with interest from date. Warranty Deeds given, and Trust Deeds taken, waiving redemption. These terms will make it very easy for any one to secure a pleasant Home, which must constantly increase in value with comfort, to the growth of Memphis continues. N. M. TREZEVANT,

The Buntyn Tract at Public Sale.

DESIROUS of carrying out as speedily as possible the provisions of the Will of G. Buntyn, deceased, in the disposal of his Homestead Tract, I WILL OFFER A PUBLIC SALE the remaining portion of the Tract, consisting of about

SEVENTY-FIVE LOTS,

Varying from two to ten acres in size, embracing with the first lands all the wood land lots on the Tract.

The high reputation for the health which this locality enjoys, and the choice of easy and quick communication with the city by railway or dirt road, give to these lands advantages that must be apparent to the business men of Memphis, as a cheap, convenient, and pleasant point at which to establish their family residences, combining so fully the advantages of town and country.

With the object of removing all difficulty in selling, we shall offer the property upon the following easy

TERMS—One-fourth cash, balance in 6, 12, 18 and 24 months' with interest. Warranty deeds given and deed or trust taken, waiving redemption.

EVERY LOT PUT UP WILL BE SOLD WITHOUT RESERVE Plans of the lots may be obtained at the office of the Auctioneers; each lot being staked so as to be examined before the sale.

Sale will be upon the premises on WEDNESDAY, the 16th of October, 1867.

THE NEXT STAR.—Lady Don is to succeed Belle Boyd at the New Memphis, on Monday night.

COMMITTED.—James Richards was committed yesterday to the county jail, on a charge of burglary.

VESEY'S REPORTS.—One set of Vesey's reports can be had at the auction rooms of W. H. Passmore & Co., No. 280 Second street.

THE MILLIKEN CASE.—This important case comes up this morning before Judge Trig.

Dealers in Hardware and cutlery will bear in mind the great sale now in progress at the auction rooms of Passmore & Co., No. 280 Second street.

POLICE COURT.—But little business in this court yesterday. Eleven cases were put through, and it scarcely paid the expenses, as only $16 was realized.

IN ST. PAUL.—Justice John Creighton is in St. Paul, Minnesota, endeavoring to recuperate his health, but we are sorry to learn with not much success, but we know that climate usually works wonders.

DECIDED.—In the suit of Walker vs. Black, for holding Justice's Court in a district for which he was not elected, Justice Hall decided in favor of the plaintiff. The statute penalty is $50.

HOUSE WARMING.—The officials connected with the United States District Court have in contemplation a house warming on Friday. We have no doubt it will be a pleasant affair.

Messrs. J. R. Christian & Co. authorize us to say they will transfer all cotton stored with them, and intended to be shipped North by the Memphis and Ohio railroad, to the depot of the same free of drayage.

STEALING.—Ella Harris was sent to the county jail yesterday for going down upon Francis Mitchell for a small sum of money. Ella wanted some new clothes, and thought to make Francis pay for them.

THANKS.—We return our thanks to Mr. W. G. Wickham for a present of luscious apples grown on his place—nine miles from the city. He has a hundred trees full of such apples, and furnishes them daily to customers.

THE ALTERNATIVE.—The successful sale of tickets by the Southern Asylum everywhere in the interior, indicates the speedy resumption of business activity. The winner of a prize will have it with perfect title, or the cash value less ten per cent.

BASE BALL.—The third game of the series between the Pride of the South and Enterprise base ball clubs will be played this afternoon upon the grounds of the latter. Great interest will be taken in the game, as it decides the championship of the city.

CLOTHES STOLEN.—Samuel Forres, is an industrious carpenter, and as such owns a tool chest. He was at work in Hickman alley, just in rear of the Overton hotel. He left his chest unlocked during a temporary absence, and some clothes in dividual appropriated his coats. Samuel has gone to work for more.

Emmons & Son, No. 10 Jefferson street and 393 Main street, have received the New York Ledger, Chimney Corner, Literary Album, Boston Pilot, Banner of Light, and dailies from everywhere; also all magazines for October, Waverley Magazine, LaCrosse Democrat, London Art Journal and Sunday Times.

SHELBY COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT.—The jury in the case of Jacob Thompson, indictment for horse stealing, returned a verdict of guilty, and ten years imprisonment in the penitentiary. On next Saturday the roll will be called. Next Thursday will be motion day. The criminal docket will be taken up to-day, and probably concluded.

CHANCERY COURT.—Owing to sickness in Chancellor Smith's family, no business was done in this court on yesterday.

The jury in the case of Hardin vs Avery was discharged by agreement of counsel. To-day being motion day the roll of attorneys will be called by the clerk, commencing at letter H.

INQUESTS.—Coroner Cotton held an inquest, yesterday, upon the body of Fred. Bankhead, a negro, who died suddenly the night previous. No evidence of foul play being discovered, the verdict of the jury was that he came to his death from natural causes.

Alf. Baker died suddenly at 168 Washington street; the Coroner held an inquest, and the same verdict was rendered as above.

ON DIT.—That a stock company is about to be organized in this city for the erection of a mammoth theater or opera house. The plan is grand, but we think there is no money in it, and we think so until we see the present establishment nightly crowded and the Greenlaw Opera house in full blast.

That Colonel Bob Crockett will appear to-night in one of his favorite characters at Miss Boyd's benefit.

RELIGIOUS.—There will be divine service in the Chelsea Baptist church to night, beginning at half past seven o'clock, and the services will be deeply interesting and impressive. Mr. Spencer C. Rogers, of the firm of Graves, Jones & Co., is to be ordained to the office of Deacon in said church. The order of exercises will be as follows: Sermon, by Rev. S. H. Ford; examination of the Deacon elect, by Rev. A. B. Miller; prayer and imposition of hands, by the presbytery; charge to the Deacon and the church, by Rev. J. R. Graves. All interested are invited to be present.

COMMERCIAL HOTEL.—This establishment continues to deserve its time honored fame as one of the best hotels of the city, and since it has fallen under the control of Mr. Bryson it has been all that the traveling public could desire. The table furnished with all the mark-t affords, in the most lavish abundance, the clerks polite, affable and attentive, and the servants all that could be desired, how could it be otherwise than a popular resort for travelers? It is situated in the heart of the business portion of the city, about equidistant from the river and the postoffice, the different railroads, and within a step of the various street railroads. We take much pleasure in commending this hotel to our friends.

LAW COURT.—The following order of Court was entered of record on yesterday:

"It is ordered that all motions which have been entered on the motion docket, or on which notice has been given to be heard on to-day, shall without further notice be continued and stand for hearing on the next motion day of this court."

W. H. Martin, Esq., was sworn in as an attorney of this court.

The cases on writs of inquiry will be taken up to day, provided the special cases set for trial on yesterday shall have been disposed of.

TRANSFER ON REAL ESTATE.—John P. Trezevant to J. McMahon, deed, lot No. 71 of Woodruff's subdivision of county lots Nos. 318 and 319, situate on Raleigh road avenue

L. F. Carr, et al, to T. J. Frophiet, received in trust to secure payment of $4,687 68, lot No. No. 2, block 33, in Peet Memphis, on south side of Talbot street, 88½ by 142 feet.

F. H. Cossett to A. Edmonds, et al., trustees of Central Baptist Church, $5,000, part of block sixty-four, east side of second street extended, being sixty-five feet on Second street by 178 feet—lien retained.

THE CRYSTAL PALACE.—Joe Oshie is still the merry Rooiface of this saloon, the most gorgeous in the South, and he gives his best attention to his customers. His wines brandies and liquors are unequalled, and the suavity of his barkeepers has passed almost into a proverb. A visit to this palace of blue and gold is sure to engender another. Joe informs us that he will hereafter recommence the furnishing of a lunch to his customers, from 10½ to 11½ each day, and that it will be as it was before, the best lunch of the city. As he intends it to be at all times first class, he has procured tickets, which can be had of the barkeepers, and each ticket is good for a lunch. The palace is right in the heart of the business part of the city, in the alley behind L. Kremer's, between Main and Front streets, and Jefferson and Court. Joe invites all his old friends to see him.

Mr. F. P. Sullivan, charged with obtaining a note by false swearing, called upon us last night, and as there is always two sides to a story, we will now give his: He claims the mule as his property, and asserts that he can prove his ownership by at least three respectable witnesses. He further asserts that the mule was recovered by due process of law, by a duly authorized officer, under a writ of replevin, and that as soon as the charge was made, he gave as good a bondsman as could be found. Mr. Sullivan has been rather unfortunate, but as we desire to do justice to all, we give him the benefit of his statement as the second side to the question, premising, however, that he impressed us most favorably.

UNITED STATES COURT.—The jury in the case of Josiah Maples vs Butler and Hicox, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $9,58.

The following named gentlemen were discharged from service as traverse jurymen: T. A. Mauldin, William Chase, P. Boecher, A. Benkert, H. R. Wood, C. P. Chamberlain, R. H. Vance.

Judge T. W. Brown delivered an argument for the defendants last evening, in the injunction case of Dean vs Memphis Canton Gas Company, et al: The case will not conclude for several days.

It seems to be the general belief that the Milliken habeas corpus case will be taken up on Saturday and disposed of if possible.

To-day, the case of Newmark vs The Hartford and Ætna Insurance Companies will be taken up.

THE NEW MEMPHIS.—Last night Miss Boyd appeared as the Countess in the play of "Love." It was a performance reflecting much credit upon the gifted lady, and we feel confident that ere long she will make this a specialty. No more studious or courageous actress ever trod the boards. In her vocabulary there is certainly no such word as fail, and when such a spirit exists, backed by talent, success of great magnitude must be success. Mr. Rankin, of 30th inst., pleased us better than he has ever before, and we confidently predict that he will leave Memphis as great a favorite as was either Wheelock or Carden. Possessing a figure redolent of the graces of manly beauty, an eye whose scintillations are the offshoots of genius, a voice whose melodic vibrations re-echo in the ear long after he has left the stage, an ease of carriage, and gracefulness of stage posture unseldom equalled, always a thorough knowledge of his part, and a true, artistic conception of his character, all taken together make him one of the best leading men the New Memphis has ever known, and Manager Thompson made a hit when he engaged the gentlemanly Rankin. To-night a grand complimentary benefit takes place, tendered by the citizens of Memphis to Miss Boyd; and we know that there will scarcely be standing room in the theater. The place selected is the great Rialto place of "Airish-na-Pogue," and we feel sure that "Belle" will do her best. Just here we lay before our readers a note from the immortal Stonewall Jackson to Miss Boyd, written almost on the field of battle, and when the safety of a great army and the care of a great, vital movement was pressing upon him. Can we appreciate the service she then rendered, when one of the purest men—one of the greatest executive military men the world ever saw—thinks it his duty to sit down, ere the conflict has stayed, and write the following to the simple girl who had braved bullets which killed her dress, as she passed over the scene of carnage, to give him the information that saved the day?

MAY 22, 1862.

Miss Belle Boyd:

I thank you for myself and for the army, for the immense service that you have rendered your country to-day.

Hastily, I am your friend,

T. J. JACKSON, C. S. A.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION.—We publish this morning the following programme of the organization and objects of the Howard Association. Prominent among the characteristics of Memphis is the large proportion of transient persons in its population, and at all seasons of the year, in cases of sickness, there are calls upon the humane and charitable in their behalf. That these calls may be met intelligently and systematically, is the object of the Howard Association, and we are gratified in being able to state that it has met the unqualified approval of clergymen and physicians, several of the latter pledging their co-operation and professional services. We trust that it will also meet the approval and sympathy of the community generally, and that a sufficient number may join the association to enable it to grapple with any emergency. The object of the organization may be stated as follows: The names of the gentlemen attached is a guaranty that it will be pushed forward to a successful issue. Impressed with the importance of an association to provide nurses and necessaries for those who may be taken sick among us without means and without friends, the subscribers propose to form an organization to be known as the Howard Association of Memphis. The association will comprise active and honorary members. The active member to contribute their time and labor in attendance upon the sick, under the direction of the proper officers of the association; the honorary members of those who shall contribute not less than ten dollars previous to enrolling their names, and annually thereafter during the existence of the organization; and also of such others as may be declared worthy of the distinction by a vote of two-thirds of the members present. The qualifications for active membership are temperate habits and a good moral character.

RIVER NEWS.

AVALANCHE OFFICE,
FRIDAY, October 4.

BUSINESS—WEATHER—RIVERS.

Weather clear and warm. The channel between here and Cairo is improving slowly. The packets report five feet scant from here to Cairo and six feet below here. The river has risen a few inches at Cairo. The Ohio was rising slowly at Cincinnati and Louisville yesterday. The Arkansas remains low, with twenty-six inches in the channel to Pine Bluff. White river is receding slowly, with four feet large to Augusta.

ARRIVALS.

" Schuyler, St. Louis.

DEPARTURES.

Steamer Adam Jacobs, St. Louis.
" Bridgeport, St. Louis.
" Shark, tow boat, New Orleans.
" W. R. Arthur, New Orleans.

IN PORT.

American.

MISCELLANEOUS.

There was very little business doing on the levee yesterday, with but one or two boats in port receiving freight.

The W. R. Arthur did not get off for New Orleans until four p.m. The Bridgeport from St. Louis reshipped her cargo on the Arthur, and turned back from here.

The Sharp and barges, and the Schuyler arrived from St. Louis Wednesday night. The Schuyler transferred her cargo to the barges of the sharp, and she cleared for New Orleans last night with three barges well loaded. The Schuyler returns from here to St. Louis taking one thousand sacks of damaged salt.

The Adam Jacobs returned to St. Louis last evening with a fair passenger trip.

The Norman, for White river from the Ohio, and Louisiana from St. Louis for New Orleans, are due, and will probably pass down this morning.

We regret to learn that the yellow fever is still committing dreadful ravages in New Orleans, and that the famous Howard Association are taxed to their utmost limits in relieving and nursing the sick. From a highly trustworthy source we learn that the average expenditures of this noble Association exceeds three hundred dollars per day.

The Norman, Captain Scott, is advertised to leave to day at five p.m. for White river. Messrs. Vinson and Donahue will make engagements for her.

The Sherman, Captain George Baker, will leave on Saturday at five p.m. for Vicksburg and the bends. Vinson and Donahue are her agents.

The American, Captain Nolan, I advertised to leave for Pine Bluff at five p.m. to-day.

The regular Memphis and Pine Bluff United States mail packet Gleaner, a No. 1 boat, in charge of competent and reliable officers, will be found in port this morning, to receive for Pine Bluff and way points on the Arkansas, and will leave tomorrow at five p.m. Her cargo is partially engaged, and she will go out as announced.

Captain James F. Smith, chief clerk of the Robert E. Lee, is in New Orleans, very ill with yellow fever. Three of his children were also attacked, and one, his daughter Eliza, died. The others of the family are convalescent, but fears are entertained for Captain Smith.

The Bowers, Captain John R. Davis, is the regular Saturday White river United States mail packet. She will be in port this morning, ready to receive. Her agents (Messrs. Levy & Miller) have three hundred tons of merchandise for her on the levee. She will be able to go out on Saturday, with all the freight she can carry. Captain Davis designs placing a Tuesday packet in the trade, as the business demands it.

The St. Patrick, Captain John Elliott, is the regular Saturday Vicksburg and bends packet.

The Cornelia, Captain Baker, is the packet for Cairo and St. Louis to-day, at five p.m.

The Natoma is announced for Helena and Mariana to-day, at five p.m.

The St. Patrick finished her repairs and left for Vicksburg yesterday morning.

The Ben and Mollett with barges are aground at Island 37.

The convention of steamboatmen will meet at Cincinnati on the 15th instant.

The Quindaro is loading at St. Louis for the Arkansas.

The Henry Adkins and Champion were advertised to leave St. Louis for New Orleans yesterday.

Captain John G. Owen died on board the Miss. at Dallas, Ala bama, on the 22d of September. For a period of thirty years the deceased has been identified with steamboating, sometimes as captain, but generally clerk, standing among the latter commodly at the top of the list.

The Cincinnati Commercial of Wednesday says:

It is our painful duty to record the death of Arthur Hurd and John Pelosky, at Illevara Landing, La Ossara, of yellow fever. The following letter from Captain Hurd announced that point: "Dear Sir—It is my painful duty to announce the death of my brother, Arthur Hurd, arrived here yesterday, from the month on the Channel, on route for St. Louis, and died for the remains of his son. Captain Hurd has indeed been very much unwell. By the explosion of the Missouri he lost his wife and two sons, barely escaping himself. About the same time he lost his brother, Captain Jacob C. Hurd, known up on the W. R. Carter, and he now mourns the loss of another son, a promising young man. Mr. Pelosky was married in this city a few months since, and was also an exemplary young man.

The St. Louis Democrat of Wednesday has the following:

Although there has been a considerable consumption lately, at this port, an appearance of great brightness in river business, we are compelled to admit that such appearances were delusive. It is a fact that the receipts of produce throughout the season, to this day, have been lamentably meager. The low water, difficulty of navigation and heavy exposure of freights are among the reasons for this. The navigation of the Missouri continues interrupted; that of the Illinois is hardly thought of and little attempted. The lower reaches of the upper Mississippi are a source fear to our commerce, and unquestionably divert directly much of our trade to the lakes. It is well known that along the upper rivers there are large amounts of produce awaiting shipment, while numerous boats fitted for its transportation are lying idle. Shippers will not, of course, pay rates that would leave them no profit on produce purchased from the interior. The river is again falling at Keokuk. The decline continues also here. Boats leave are down to not over four feet eight inches, for points below. Weather pleasant.

The Mobile Times, of September 27, says:

The Board of Underwriters, at a late meeting, promoted all stern wheel steamers that can stand inspection, to be first class boats, and are now engaged in advancing the rates of insurance on them. Insurance on good stern wheel boats down stream to be the same rate as on side wheelers. We have heard of a "through ticket" for cotton and up freight, by the river and lake boats and the Selma railways; don't think, however, that all the arrangements are made yet, the bottom of the Alabama river just now approximating rather near the water surface for much through business of any kind to be done. Last accounts, thirty inches only at Malmer.

Discovery of Coal in Russian America.

Radical Congressmen Among the Negroes

Minister Romero on Mexican Affairs.

Rumors of a Serious Revolt at Rome.

A Heavy Bank Failure at Glasgow.

WASHINGTON, October 3.—The branch mint at Charlotte, North Carolina, is soon to be put in full operation for assaying purposes, and it is represented that working operations have been recommenced; receipts of gold of this mint are on the increase, not only from localities in North Carolina, but from contiguous States.

A seam of pure anthracite coal over thirty feet deep has been discovered in Russian America, and traced for a mile near a good harbor.

Oak and fir timber are abundant. It has been determined that all applications for a special modification of the recent bonded warehouse negotiations shall be considered and determined in the office of the Secretary of the Treasury instead of the office of Internal Revenue.

RICHMOND, October 3.—Congressman Shanks, of Indiana, addressed an assemblage of blacks last evening. He spoke as one of a party who had the power when he said the Southern States would have been in the Union long ago if they had given the blacks their rights, and they would never get in until they did. President Johnson, if guilty, would be impeached; and even with his aid the Maryland rebel militia, which was armed, would be powerless to do anything. The men of the North were ready at the tap of the drum to quell him and his militia. He predicted 30,000 majority in Ohio for the Republicans.

NEW YORK, October 3.—Senor Romero, the Mexican Minister, was present this evening at a grand dinner given him by prominent citizens of this city. He made a lengthy address, and in reviewing the past and present of Mexico recognizes the important services of the United States in aiding the triumph of the Republican Government of Mexico.

BOSTON, October 3.—A dispatch from Charles Dickens to Tickner & Field, definitely announces that he will come to this country to give a series of readings, arriving in November and commencing reading first week in December.

LONDON, October 2, 12 m.—No further telegrams relative to the recent disturbances in Italy have been received. Many wild rumors are afloat. It is said that a serious revolt has broken out at Rome, and the Pope was obliged to fly to Civito Vecchia for safety.

The semi-official journal of Florence says that Rome will soon belong to Italy, and that without a broken treaty.

LIVERPOOL, October 2, 12 m.—The cotton market opened quiet and steady, with a probability that the day's sales will reach 10,000 bales. Prices unaltered.

LONDON, October 2.—Consols declined to 94¾. All American stocks are heavy and drooping, owing to no receipt of quotations from New York. The following are the opening rates: Erie, 43; Illinois Central, 77¾; Five-twenties, 72; Atlantic and Great Western, 23.

GLASGOW, October 2.—The firm of Buchanan & Co., who were engaged in the American trade, suspended to-day; liabilities not ascertained.

LONDON, October 2.—Admiral Farragut, of the American navy, arrived in this city yesterday. He was received with marked civilities.

NEW YORK, October 3—12 m.—Gold opened at 144¾; at 11 a.m. it was 144¾. Cotton dull and tendency downward; uplands 21½c; Orleans 22¾. Exchange steady.

COMMERCIAL.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
FRIDAY, October 4, 1867.

Business in the leading markets to-day was quiet and steady, with a fair jobbing trade doing. The rivers continue low, which has a tendency to depress business. The Memphis and Louisville Railroad is doing a heavy business. Long trains of cars come in twice a day loaded with merchandise for Memphis, Arkansas, and points along the Lower Mississippi. One hundred tons of merchandise was received yesterday by the Road en route for Texas. The suspension of navigation on the Ohio has given a clear field to the Memphis and Louisville Railroad, and it is at present doing a splendid business.

COTTON—The market yesterday morning opened active, with a fair demand and fair offerings. Buyers operated freely during the morning, and sales of middling were made at 19c, but the noon dispatches reported a decline in New York, which checked all operations in the market here. During the afternoon there was little doing. Sales for the day foot up small, with middling at 18½@19c, strict middling at 19½@20c, and low middling at 18@18½c. The market closed dull and heavy at the following quotations:

Strict Middling	20 @20½
Middling	18½@19
Low Middling	18 @18½
Good Ordinary	17 @17½
Ordinary	15 @16

A Card.

WE will at once rebuild our warehouse, and will have it completed by the 15th of September, but by the first day of that month we will be ready to receive goods on store.

The sheds will be divided into five proof compartments by brick walls and covered with tin. Those who have patronized us for the last two seasons, and those who may have proposed to do so on the approaching one, may rest assured we will be ready for them.

We design establishing a Cotton Compress in connection with our warehouse, upon an adjacent lot, which will be ready by the 1st of October or sooner. The proximity of our establishment to the river for shipping the bandling of cotton so conveniently and the great advantage of the position is equal to one cent per pound on all cotton sent for compressing at from other warehouses, while from all cotton sent from our warehouse, for compressing, there can be no drayage saved, since it would be as easy for us to transfer it from our shed to the Compress as to turn it out in the ordinary way for transfer by drays.

THE DISCOVERY OF THE AGE

McGILMSEY'S MAGIC SOAP.

It is a labor saving invention as well as an invaluable remedy in scurvy, scald head, eruptions of the skin and piles. Dandruff is removed from the head, the teeth whitened and cleansed, plate and jewelry cleaned, stains effectually removed from carpets, furniture, clothes, paint, varnish or marble with the greatest facility and without injury to the material. It is a great saving of time and labor in washing clothes. It is the only known soap which will wash flannels with the same of cotton or linen without fulling or shrinking. All these important objects can be effected without injury to the skin or the most delicate fabric. It possesses no deleterious qualities whatever. The world is challenged to produce a soap which possesses so many valuable properties, and which is so innocuous and safe. It is a home invention, and defies competition in any part of the world. It has become a necessity in Memphis, and its use is rapidly spreading throughout the south, and eventually will extend over the Yankee States, North and South America, Europe, Asia, Africa and Oceanica. Manufactured solely by C. F. MCGIMSEY, Memphis, Tenn., and can soon be found in any respectable family grocery or drug store. The proprietor is determined that its manufactur shall keep pace with the rapidly extending demand for its use
